What to Do

BY PHYLLIS BELMONT

My daughter has become engaged to a boy with whose parents I am not acquainted. What is the proper way to meet them?

Answer: The family of the young man will call on your daughter and you as soon as they hear of the engagement. This is a "must" call, and whether or not they approve the match they must put themselves out and pretend they like the engagement.

When the mother of the bride announces the engagement in the usual way, she will send engraved cards to her friends and relatives and mention an afternoon when she and her daughter will be "at home." This "at home" offers an excellent opportunity for the groom's family to call and get acquainted.

ONE NAZI LESS

WHEN A SPITFIRE ATTACKED one of the Nazis' latest and fastest fighters (a FW 190) at 12,000 feet recently over France, its pilot, Sergeant Robson of New Zealand, saw the above remarkable picture sequence as it was photographed by his automatic camera. (1) The cockpit hood flew off. (2) The pilot's helmet flew off. (3) and (4) The enemy plane fell away with one wing down.

In the first five months of this year, these R.A.F. daylight fighters swept over enemy occupied country, destroyed the equivalent of 11 complete enemy fighter squadrons. This continued drain on Nazi air strength is complementary to the R.A.F.'s heavy night bombings of Nazi cities.
